Thank you [REDACTED] moving you to BCC to spare some inbox.

Hi Alex, nice to connect. Besides Head of M&A, I work closely with our CEO and our Head of Strategy on partnerships and other ventures. Also, I have particular interest in data and tech - started my career in Cloud at IBM in Spain c. 2005 -. Would love to connect, and as you can imagine this is an area with a lot of friction with copyrights and author derivative content. So, happy to learn how do you want to address all that.

Can you send a few time slots in the coming couple of weeks? We are based in NYC.

Have a great weekend,

[REDACTED]

Hi [REDACTED]

Thank you for call yesterday. We would be most appreciative if you could help connect us to the right contact at [REDACTED]

As Mark Zuckerberg stated on the last earnings call, and recently in the press (here), Meta is accelerating its efforts in the generative AI space. As part of this project, Meta AI BD is currently in market for multiple paid licensing deals to license fiction and textbook content for the training of AI models.

Our process is to enter evaluation agreements (we have a four-page legal form) whereby we can test xml fiction and textbook content in our models for qualification prior to entering fully paid licensing discussions. License structure for paid agreements is that [REDACTED] would own the licensed content, and Meta would own the resulting models and associated outputs. These deals are non-exclusive for both parties.

Thank you,

Alex

Hi [REDACTED]

Thank you for the email. Unfortunately, I am tied up on Friday.

Do you have any availability tomorrow (Wednesday or Thursday)? Otherwise how about Monday?

Thanks,

Alex
